BNSW ANNOUNCES THE COMPLETE GUIDE TO BASKETBALL COURTS IN THE SYDNEY METROPOLITAN AREA

The availability of facilities required to play the game of basketball is often an issue in the Sydney Metropolitan area.

BNSW frequently has to answer enquiries from the general public about where people can play and train for basketball.

In addition to this, BNSW member associations are often required to source additional court space for these activities when their own facilities become full and over-crowded.

In response to these many enquiries, BNSW has created a comprehensive guide to the availability of basketball courts, both indoor and outdoor within the Sydney Metropolitan area.

This is a customer service initiative from BNSW to make basketball more accessible to residents of Sydney and to assist the growth of the sport.

BNSW expects that this guide will prove to be a great boom to many users including BNSW Sydney Metropolitan Associations, sporting clubs, basketball clubs, schools, community organisations and members of the general public.

BNSW's guide is available free of charge. Simply go to the BNSW website and click on the "Guide to Basketball Courts in the Sydney Metropolitan Area" link on the BNSW homepage to download the file.

Please note BNSW cannot guarantee that the document provided is completely accurate. It has been created to the best of our ability. If you detect any errors or information that is incorrect please contact BNSW so that it can be corrected.
